

Engaging Systems in Neighborhood Based Work

Achieving better and more equitable cradle-to-career outcomes
to improve economic mobility

StriveTogether[®]
Every child. Cradle to career.

What will it take for all Black, Indigenous, Latine, and Asian youth and families and those experiencing poverty to have the opportunity to reach their fullest potential?

our commitment

Economic mobility and creating equitable pathways for every child to have the best possible opportunity is StriveTogether's north star.

roadmap to success

We focus on key outcomes to ensure communities are creating equitable pathways to economic success among Black, Indigenous, Latine youth and children living in poverty.

SuperKids CAMP

READERS ARE LEADERS

SuperKids Camp concludes this summer after exposing over 712 children to many new, exciting and enriching experiences. SuperKids is a unique and dynamic program, which again had a waiting list of students who wished to take advantage of breakfast, lunch, transportation, reading instruction and enrichment each day. This summer at various sites children learned how to sail, dance, play musical instruments, how to create masks, murals, plays, and how to investigate marine life! Only in its 7th year of operation, SuperKids Camp has served over 10,000 Baltimore City Public School Students.

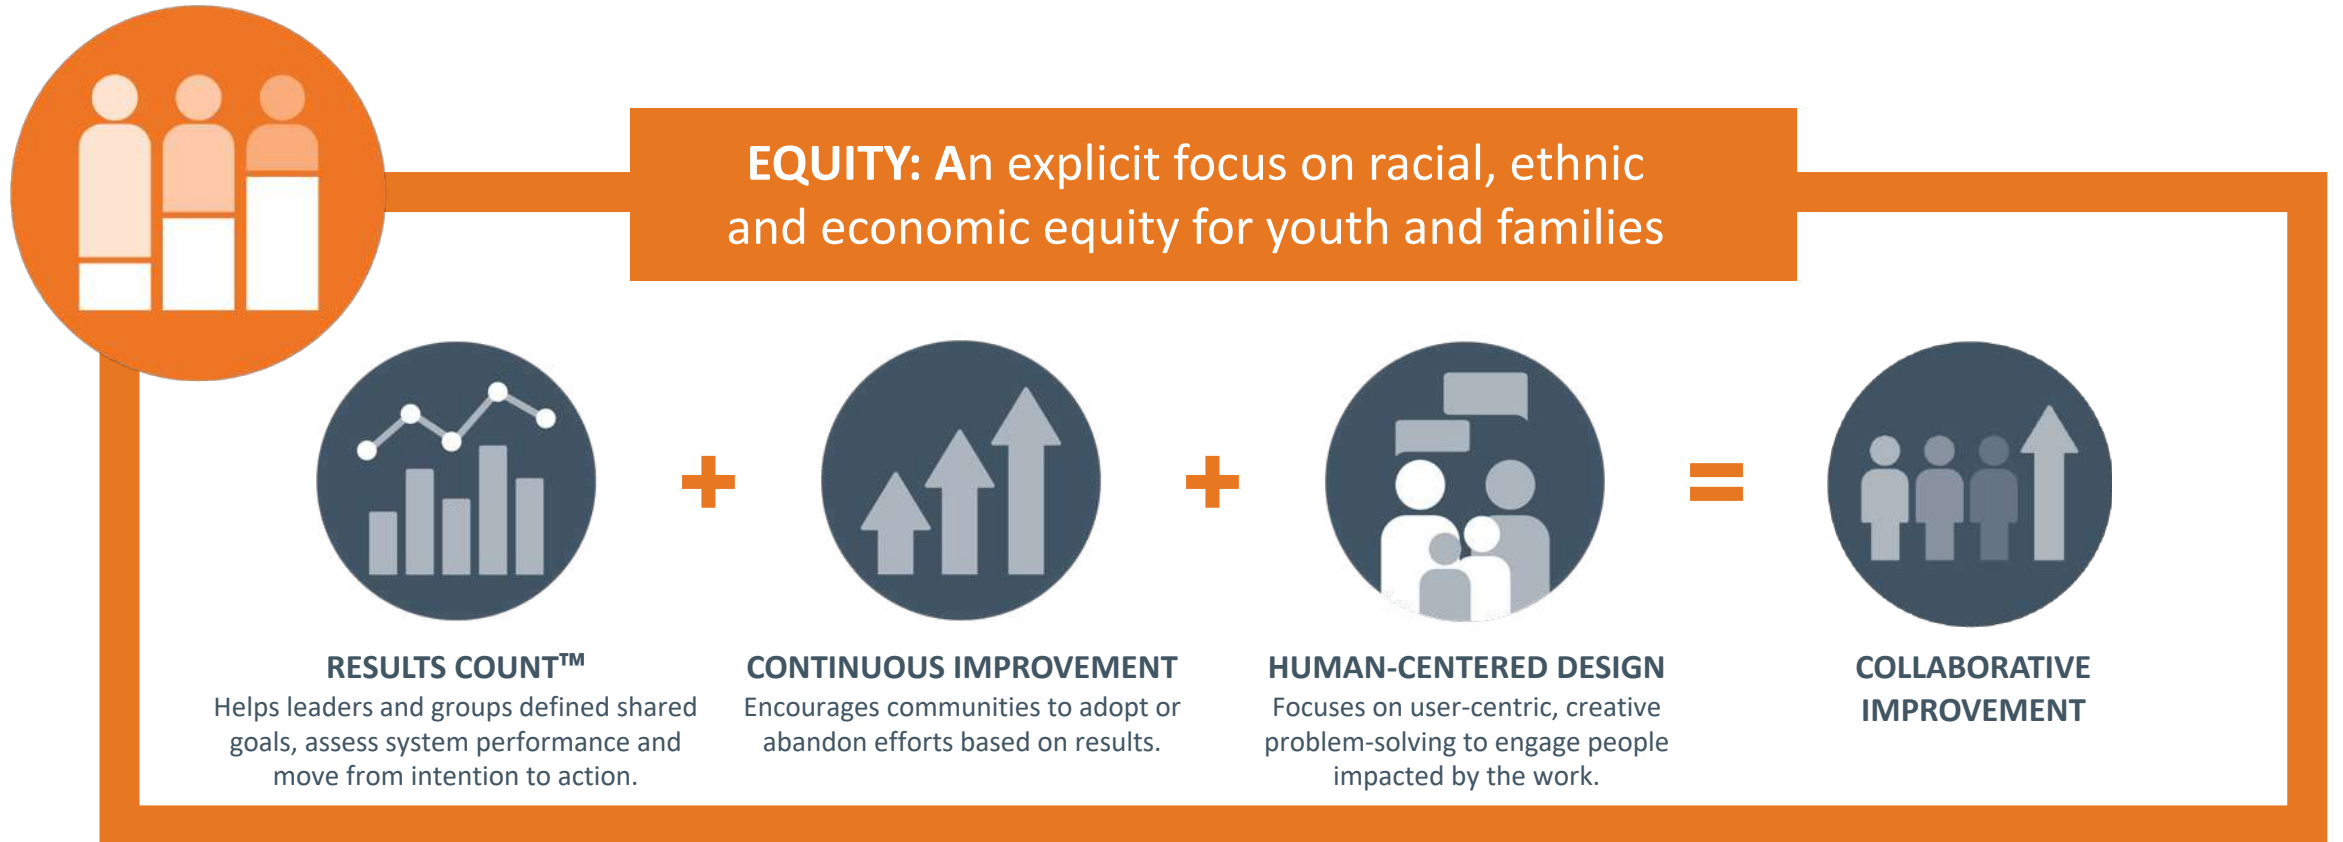

Systems Transformation & Equitable Outcomes

Fundamental and institutionalized shifts in policies, resources, practices and power structures to Black, Indigenous, Latine and Asian youth and families and those living in low-income households, with the goal of achieving population-level results.

Children and families experience improved cradle-to-career outcomes and sustained pathways for economic mobility
